NEWSPAPER PROSPERITY.

In Saturday's edition we published the advertising receipts of the leading newspapers of the city for the period of two months ending March 1st, 1867. We published the figures as we found them in the Assistant Assessor's office, where they had been returned under oath. The poverty exhibited by our contemporary, the Commercial, was a matter of surprise to us, so much so that we made inquiries as to the correctness of the statement, from the book-keeper of that establishment, before venturing publication. We were told that the amount was correct; that the reason for its being so small was that the Commercial did not attend to collections in the beginning of business quarters but towards the close. The United States Assistant Assessor was loth to receive the meagre return, but on being assured that it was no more he recorded the figures as subscribed to by the authorized agent of the Commercial. The returns were as follows:

GAZETTE	$12,486 14
Chronicle	12,125 00
Dispatch	12,051 79
Post	7,865 15
Commercial	4,579 64
Freiheits Freund (German)	2,519 81
Volksblatt (German)	1,700 00
Sunday Leader (Weekly)	1,290 75
Total	$54,618 28

The Commercial yesterday managed to correct the above sworn statement of cash returns for the two months ending March 1st, and takes the lead of all the city press. That was a clever performance on its part, although it cost the stockholders of the concern nearly three hundred dollars to right themselves before the public. We anticipated as much, as such a return might have proved extremely damaging. The blunder is charged upon the book-keeper, who, in the hurry of making out a return, failed to get at the proper books, and, we presume, blindly swore to the figures reported by us. It does seem strange that in a well regulated office such a gross mistake should have occurred, and that it was not discovered till after the GAZETTE publication, although the attention of their book-keeper was previously drawn to the fact that the Commercial was far behind its neighbors.

The Commercial choses to compare figures with its contemporaries from the first of January, 1866, a date anterior to the existence of the firm now managing the GAZETTE. The comparison, so far as we are concerned, illustrates nothing. Here are the figures which set forth the comparative prosperity of the Commercial and GAZETTE, taking in only the time elapsing since the incoming of the present proprietors of this journal.

Quarter ending, October 1st, 1866, being first full quarter returned by present GAZETTE proprietors:

GAZETTE	$15,015 00
Commercial	14,764 00

Quarter ending, January 1st, 1867.

GAZETTE	$17,990 00
Commercial	17,008 00

Two months ending, March 2d, 1867.

GAZETTE	$12,486 00
Commercial	4,579 00

Total receipts for the eight months reported:

GAZETTE	$45,491 00
Commercial	36,351 00

Balance in favor of GAZETTE. $9,140 00

Allowing the Commercial the amount of amended return, the result will still leave the GAZETTE largely in the advance.

> The returns just made to the U. S. District Assessor show the newspapers of this city to be in a prosperous condition, with the exception of the Commercial, which, if the statement furnished from that office be correct, must be in a very sickly state. The cash receipts of the Dispatch and Chronicle for advertising, during the two months ending the first of March, when the advertising tax was repealed, exceeded $12,000 each, while the Commercial's receipts for the same period, as sworn to by their book keeper, only reached the insignificant sum of $4,579 54, or but a little over one-third those of each of the other papers named above. That there should be such a wide difference appears to have caused quite a fluttering among the Commercial backers, and it would not surprise us in the least to see an effort made to have the return amended and the figures revised so that our ponderous neighbor may appear, on paper at least, to enjoy that extraordinary success of which it so often and so loudly boasts. The Post returns $7,865 15; the GAZETTE over $12,000; the Freiheit's Freund $2,519 81, and the Volksblatt $1,700, all very handsome sums, and indicating a much better business than might have been expected.

In giving vent to its spleen towards the Commercial, the jealous Dispatch forgets to observe that the GAZETTE figured first in the returns, and left it in the background. However, we could not expect anything like justice from its hands, and are glad that it acknowledged "the GAZETTE was over twelve thousand dollars," even if it did lose sight of the fact that we were several hundred dollars in advance of the Dispatch.

THE Republican State Convention of Louisiana, in session last week at New Orleans, adjourned on Saturday night after adopting a broad and liberal platform of principles. Perfect equality of all men is advocated; Congress is sustained in all its acts; immigration is encouraged; in favor of the Goverment equally taxing the products of the farmer, miner and manufacturer; assuming a share in the national debt; denouncing Andrew Johnson's Amnesty Proclamation, and advocating the repair of the levees. The Convention was numerously attended.

THE Chicago journals having failed to clearly establish the density of the population of that city by calculations drawn from election returns, now fall back on a recently published Directory to claim 267,309 inhabitants. The aforesaid Directory contains 89,103 names, which multiplied by 3 gives the result stated.

Beet Sugar.

A writer in the Boston Post says that beet sugar, under our present tariff, can be made in this country to the best advantage by large manufacturers. He says: "To make beet sugar profitably requires heavy capital, costly machinery and a high order of chemical and mechanical talent. It is a manufacturing business, ultimately allied with agriculture, like the production of cotton and woolen fabrics. Farmers cannot set a kettle in their boiler houses and make sugar to compete with a well appointed factory with any better prospect of success than they would have in attempting to weave their own shirts, or have looms in their back kitchen to compete with the products of the great establishments of Lowell and Lawrence." The productiveness of the beet in sugar has been largely increased by improved methods, and the cost of production has been materially lessened. He gives the following statistics: The average per centage of sugar obtained from beets in France in 1840 was about four and a half. In 1865 it was seven. A gain in twenty-five years of more than fifty per cent. on the yield of 1840. In the States of the Zollverein, manufacturers obtained an average of 5 55-100 per cent. from beets in 1840, and 8 54-100 per cent. in 1865. A gain of nearly sixty per cent. in twenty five years. The higher the per centage of sugar obtained, the smaller, of course, is the amount of beets required to make a ton of sugar. Thus in France it took more than twenty-two tons of beets to make a ton of sugar in 1840, while it took but a little more than fourteen tons to produce the same amount in 1865. It required eighteen tons of beets in 1840, and less than twelve in 1865, to make a ton of sugar in the States of Zollverein.

To Prevent Ruts in Roads.

The art of road-making is yet in its infancy in this country. The roads are not laid out, made, or repaired with reference to economy of draft in using them. Deep ruts are soon worn in them by the common vehicles that pass over them; and these grow worse and worse, until they are almost impassable in spring. Broad cart tires are a partial remedy for these. Longer yokes, both for oxen, and for double horse wagons and carts, compelling the teams to walk in the same line with the wheels that come after them, would be a still better remedy. On most country roads there are two toe-paths and two ruts, and it is noticeable that the toe-paths are always in much the better order. Longer yokes would bring the paths and ruts together. The feet of the teams would break down the sides of the ruts, and fill them as fast as they were formed. This would improve the road bed, and make the draft of loads easier. We cannot shorten the axle trees without increasing the danger of upsetting, but we can lengthen the yokes with safety.—Agriculturalist.

—The New York papers mention that the first consignment of new wheat from the South has reached that city. They add that Southern millers have made such contracts for the new wheat that they will be able to sell handsome family flour in New York for thirteen dollars a barrel. The price of flour must tend downwards, as the prospects of a most bountiful harvest of wheat in all parts of the country multiply daily.

—A Paris paper has this clever satire on the present high prices: "A devout lady who attends the Church of St. Roche, has been in the habit of giving a half franc every Saturday to an old man who sits at the door with a box to receive alms. The other day when she proffered the usual sum to him, he said, 'I beg your pardon, Madame, during the Exhibition it is a franc.'"

—Large numbers of reapers and mowers from different Northern manufactories are arriving at Nashville, bound for different parts of the country. The Southern people are beginning to learn the advantages to be gained by the judicious use of machinery and the various labor-saving machines.

THE TRIAL OF SURRATT.

Highly Important Testimony.

A Witness Identifies Him as Being at Ford's Theatre on the Night of the Assassination of Lincoln, in Conversation with Booth.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, June 17, 1867.

PROGRESS OF THE SURRATT TRIAL.

The Surratt trial was resumed to-day, Judge Fisher presiding.

Chief Justice Carter was also on the bench, ordered the opening of the June term, and the discharge of the grand and petit juries for two weeks.

Mr. Bradley, of counsel for the defense, submitted an affidavit of Surratt, stating that his means were exhausted, and praying an order that process may issue to summon his witnesses and to compel their attendance at the cost of the Government of the United States, according to the statute in such cases made and provided. The argument was postponed until later in the case.

Judge Fisher asked counsel if they were ready to proceed to trial.

Mr. Carrington said the Assistant District Attorney would open the case.

Mr. Bradley announced that the defense reserved their opening remarks to the jury, and asked for the list of witnesses for the prosecution.

Mr. Bradley appealed to the Court, who reserved its decision until to-morrow.

Surgeon General Barnes, Jas. M. Wright, Lieut. Col. Henry R Rathbone, Col. Jos. B. Stewart, John D. Petit and James D. Ferguson, testified as to the facts connected with the assassination of President Lincoln, but the evidence developed nothing against the prisoner.

Joseph Deyer, a recruiting sergeant, now stationed in Philadelphia, testified that on April 14th, 1865, witness belonged to Battery C, Pennsylvania Artillery, and was stationed at Camp Barry, about two miles from Ford's Theatre. Witness and Sergeant Robert Cooper were in town on the night of the murder. At the time of the murder witness was in an oyster saloon; went there from Ford's Theatre at 9:30 o'clock; Sergeant Cooper was in company; witness was sitting upon some plank in front of the theatre and saw Mr. Lincoln coming there. The street in front of the theatre was lighted by a lamp; while witness was setting there, Cooper was walking up and down; while witness was there parties came out of the Theatre and went into the saloon. Before they came down witness overheard a conversation there. Witness knew John Wilkes Booth; Booth was one of the persons entering into that conversation. The first that appeared was John Wilkes Booth, conversing with a low, villainous looking person at the end of the passage. It was but a moment before another person joined them, and entered into conversation. This person was neatly dressed. The crowd then came from the Theatre, and Booth remarked, "I suppose he will come out now," as witness supposed, referring to the President. The parties in conversation then ranged themselves where the President was to pass, and watched eagerly for his appearance. He did not come, and one of them examined the carriage, and Booth went into the restaurant; remained there long enough to take a drink. He came out and stepped from the street into the passage leading to the stage. He appeared in a moment again. The party above mentioned, as neatly dressed, stepped up and called the time to Booth from a clock in the vestibule. As soon as he called the time, he moved up Tenth street to H street. He did not remain long, but came down again, stopped in front of the theatre, looked at the clock, called time again, looking directly at Booth and his companion, and being somewhat excited, he then turned on his heel again and went back towards H street. It was then witness thought something was wrong Witness carried a revolver and had a handkerchief wrapped around it, and his suspicions were so aroused that he undone the handkerchief from about the revolver; it was not long before the well dressed man came again from the direction of H street; the man stood in front of the Theatre, and the light shone full in his face; there was pictured in his countenance great excitement and exceeding paleness, and he told them for the third time the hour—that it was ten minutes past ten o'clock. Witness swears that at this time it was ten minutes to ten o'clock. Witness saw the man distinctly.

Question, by Mr. Pierpont. Did you see the man distinctly? Answer. Very distinctly.

Q. Do you see him now. A. I do sir, (pointing to Surratt,) there he sits. I have seen his face frequently in my sleep; it was so very pale. I could not forget it. I have not seen him since until lately, and the man I then saw was John H. Surratt, the prisoner at the bar. Surratt moved towards H street. Booth entered the front of the theatre. Sergeant Cooper and I then went to the oyster saloon. We had not time to eat an oyster when we heard of the murder. Went immediately up to H street, and out of H street towards Camp Barry On our way out a lady hoisted a window and asked us—

Witness was here interrupted by objections from Mr. Bradley, and the prosecution closed the examination.

Mr. Bradley announced that the defense would cross-examine the last witness to-morrow morning.

Judge Fisher passed upon the affidavit submitted by the prisoner. He said all the witnesses for the defense would be paid by the United States.

The jurors were then informed they would be taken to the Seaton House, and were to be permitted to receive communications on private matters or business. The Court then took a recess until 10 o'clock to-morrow.

FROM NEW ORLEANS.

[By Telegraph to the Pittsburgh Gazette.]

NEW YORK, June 17.—The Herald's New Orleans special says: The Radical Republican State Convention adjourned sine die, Saturday night, after indorsing the following platform: We advocate and will enforce perfect equality under the law to all men without distinction of race or color; endorse the acts of the Thirty-Ninth and Fortieth Congress; will reconstruct Louisiana upon the Congressional basis, and send to Congress only true and loyal men. Nominations for offices to be made of only those who will enforce and protect equality and the right to hold office, irrespective of race or color, in the right to vote; and enter the jury box without any educational or property qualifications being required; also on the right to practice all professions; to buy, sell, travel and be entertained and to enter into any and all civil contracts. We will advocate the granting of immediate assistance by the General Government for rebuilding the levees. We will also advocate emigration, and division of lands of the State, as far as practicable, into small farms, in order that the masses of our people may be enabled to become land holders. We will advocate the repeal of the cotton tax by Congress, and if not granted, we will demand as a right that all legislation be abolished and taxes laid on all the productive wealth of the Union. Let products of agriculture, mines and manufactory be equally and fully taxed. We will advocate equality in schools and the enforcement of the eight hour system, except in cases of special contract. We will insist on a thorough revision of the laws of Louisiana that they may guarantee equal justice to the black and white alike. We pledge ourselves to aid the Government in paying the last dollar of the public debt.

The platform further condemns Johnson's Amnesty Proclamation, believing the disfranchisement of rebels to be the highest duty of the General Government, and favors the maintenance of an adequate military force in Louisiana to see the laws enforced and life and property protected; declares that no man is to be supported for office who will not openly and boldly pledge himself to make an equal distribution among white and colored alike, of all offices to which he may have power of appointment. As the newly enfranchised citizen constitutes a majority of the party, at least one-half of the nominations for elective offices shall be taken from that class of citizens. No distinction to be made, whether the nominees or appointees were born free or not, provided they are loyal, capable and honest. The party will always discountenance any attempt on the part of any race or color to assume practical control of any branch of the Government to the exclusion of any race or class.

FROM MEXICO.

NEW YORK, June 16.—The Herald's Mexico City correspondent, writing under date of May 25th, gives a doleful account of the situation in the capital. A famine was threatening the poor inside the walls, and it was only due to the judicious measures of the chief of the municipality that a panic had not swept the populace into disorder and riot. The imposition and collection of taxes continued unremittingly, being carried on in the most tyrannical and exacting manner.

Sinking of the Steamer Nyansa.

MOBILE, ALABAMA, June 16.—The steamer Nyansa, bound for Montgomery, sunk on the Alabama river, eighty miles above this city, on Friday evening. The boat was valued at $25,000, and was not insured. The cargo consisted of supplies for the poor people in the interior, among which was 2,000 sacks of corn. The cargo was worth $25,000, and is probably insured.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The steamship Pereire brings Paris papers to the 8th inclusive. The Galignani of the South describes the visit of the Czar to the Exposition on the 5th. He also accompanied Napoleon to the Hotel des Invalides and tomb of Napoleon the first. It also gives an account of the ceremonies of the reception of the King of Prussia and suit, including Bismarck and General Moltke. There was some little cheering outside the railroad station, but along the line of march very little manifestation to the King was accorded.

A petition was presented to the French Senate, that all mothers be constrained to nurse their children themselves, and in order to enable poor women to do so, pecuniary aid might be afforded them at their own houses. The Fortress of Rastadt—Exchange of Notes Between Prussia and France.

NEW YORK, June 17.—The steamer City of Antwerp, from Liverpool on the 5th, and Queenstown on the 6th, arrived to-day. Her news was generally anticipated.

A Berlin paper asserts that an exchange of notes had taken place between France and Prussia, with reference to the occupation of Rastadt by the Prussian troops. Prussia has reserved to herself, on principle, the right to garrison the fortress by an understanding with the Sovereign Ruler of Rastadt, but declared there was at present no question of taking practical advantage of that right. It is added that France has accepted the last, and gave no contradiction to the first portion of the Prussian declaration.

Sale of the German Lutheran Church.

The construction of the great railway tunnel connecting the Panhandle road with the Union Depot, running through the earth from Pennsylvania avenue to Liberty street, seriously injured the church building of the German Lutheran congregation, which stands at the corner of Wylie and High streets. The trustees of the congregation offered to dispose of their property to the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, which corporation was responsible for damages—$30,000. This the Company refused on the ground that the amount was exorbitant. The trustees took legal action, and arbitrators awarded the congregation $43,000 as a fair price for the property in dispute. Making the best of its bad bargain, the Railroad Company last week put the property up at auction. The lot is eighty-five feet on Wylie street by sixty-five on High street, and the parsonage front is twenty feet front on Wylie street, running back a depth of seventy-five feet. Smithson, Palmer & Co. were the auctioneers, realizing from the sale the sum of $20,400, Messrs. D. Kinzer and J. M. Hoeh being the purchasers. The church structure will prove of no value save in old materials, which can be used again for building purposes. The lot is well situated, in a portion of the city destined at no distant date to prove a business centre. It was in the original laying out of the city plan of lots, the deed, bearing date 1785, and made out by John Penn and John Penn, Jr., to James Finley, at one time Governor of Pennsylvania. The old building will at once be torn down to make room for the erection of business houses.

A small lot on the south side of Wylie street, opposite the church, twenty-one by thirty-five feet, was sold at the same time by auction to Mr. P. Kelley, Grocer, Wylie street, for the snug sum of $2,200.

Elegant New Dining Rooms—Where to Get a Choice Meal at all Hours.

To-morrow there will be thrown open to public patronage a first-class and well conducted Restaurant and Dining Room, under the proprietorship and management of Mr. J. H. Williamson, at No. 36 Market street. The entire building has recently been placed in very excellent order, being thoroughly papered and painted throughout. The main dining-hall or restaurant has been fitted up with rare good taste, and will compare with any similar establishment in the city in elegance, finish, and the general conveniences and accommodations. The walls are papered with rich panel paper, in the best style of art, the mechanical work being performed by D. R. Parkhill, Esq., No. 38 Penn street, who is justly regarded as one of the most finished paper-hangers in this neighborhood. The other details of the new dining rooms, such as painting, carpenter work, glass staining and gas furnishing, are equally worthy of special mention. Mr. Williamson is determined that his dining rooms will fully supply the want long felt by ladies, merchants, clerks, steamboatmen and farmers coming to market, for a comfortable and first class restaurant whereat to take meals. The furniture is all new, and of the most approved style. The tables will be at all times supplied with the choicest of everything the markets afford, and the rarest of games, fish, &c. Mr. Williamson is as clever and accommodating a gentleman as will be found in the business, and epicures and all others, who can appreciate a good meal, will do well to favor him with a call. The ladies' dining room is located upon the second floor, is well furnished, and will be admirably conducted. We cheerfully commend the new dining rooms to the attention and patronage of our readers. Remember the place, No. 36 Market street.

Commencement Exercises of the Pittsburgh Female College.

The commencement exercises of the Pittsburgh Female College promise to be unusually interesting. In addition to the usual examination of the classes, there will be an examination of the Senior class in Latin for the Holmes prize; of the Middle class, in Mathematics, for the Mrs. Bishop Simpson prize; the Reading Contest, for the Mrs. Margaret Davidson prize; and the Music Contest for the McKee and Mellor prizes. Most of these are new features, and will add very greatly to the interest which always attaches to the commencement exercises of the College.

The music contest will take place next Thursday evening in the Chapel of the College, and will doubtless attract a large audience. The McKee prize is a gold medal, and the Mellor prize, a very beautiful volume of choice music. The former is one of the most beautiful medals we have ever seen, and cost sixty dollars in gold. The dies were prepared at the Philadelphia Mint, and cost two hundred dollars. One thousand dollars, a gold-bearing U. S. Bond, were donated by the family of Thomas McKee, deceased, to endow the prize and make it perpetual. Prof. C. Tetedoux, Mr. and Mrs. H. Kleber, and Messrs. W. H. Everson, W. P. Marshall, and M. Livingston, are to act as judges and award the prizes.

Other exercises will be announced in due time. We may add, in conclusion, that the college is closing the most prosperous year in its history. Upwards of four hundred pupils have been enrolled in the different departments. Let all who can attend the closing exercises.

The Somers Inquest.

The Coroner's jury impannelled to inquire into the cause of the death of James Somers met yesterday afternoon, pursuant to adjournment, at Devore's, on Grant street. Drs. William Campbell and John Henderson, of Deer Creek, Dr. Umbstetter of the city, and a brother of the deceased testified before the jury, and the facts as developed by no means justified the suspicion that death was the result of an overdose of morphine, as had been given out. It appeared that the deceased, who was employed in attending some oil boats near Fairview, on the Allegheny river, was taken ill during Friday night, with a pain in the stomach, the result of dyspepsia, and, as he himself stated, from the effect of some ham which he had eaten. Dr. Campbell saw him on Saturday morning, and from the symptoms and the history he obtained of the case, was of the opinion the man was suffering from indigestion or kindred affection. He administered a dose of morphine, remained with him about an hour, and before leaving gave him another dose, smaller than the first. Dr. Henderson next saw him, having been sent by Dr. Campbell, and did all in his power to relieve the constipation of the bowels, which he seemed also to be suffering from. Dr. H. left him about noon, in a rather better condition than he had been. Soon after his brother moved him to Fairview, to the house of Mr. Hulings, where he died about two o'clock Saturday afternoon, retaining his sensibility to the last. Considering all the circumstances the jury were of the opinion that death resulted from natural causes, and so returned their verdict.

A Fearful Jump—Fatal Consequences.

On Sunday morning Mr. William Fink, of Duquesne Borough, hired a horse of Mr. Czaranica, livery stable keeper in Allegheny, and hitched him to a spring wagon for the purpose of taking his wife and four children to the country. About eight o'clock he took his family in the wagon and started and had arrived near the Belvidere, his place of destination, when the horse took fright at something on the roadside, turned square round in the road, and jumped over a bridge fifteen feet in height, precipitating horse, wagon and passengers over the precipice. The whole family were more or less injured, and one, a little boy aged about five years, died yesterday morning at two o'clock from the effects of his injuries. Coroner Clawson was called and summoned a jury in the case, and after examining two witnesses, adjourned the inquest to meet at Mayor Morrison's office. We have been informed that the horse hired to Mr. Fink was known to have vicious habits, and was not at all considered safe. If this be true, there is a fearful responsibility resting upon the party from whom he hired him. We will refrain from further comment until we hear the verdict of the Coroner's jury.

Carpenters and Builders.

No branch of industry possesses so much interest to the general community as that of carpenters, for it is a very important fact that work in that line should be entrusted to experienced and finished workmen. The firm of J. & S. Francies, Nos. 266 and 268 Robinson street, Allegheny, have long enjoyed a high reputation. Being both practical carpenters and builders, their work and contracts are performed in the most satisfactory manner. They attend faithfully to all jobs entrusted to them, and are prepared to contract for buildings, store fronts, office and interior work, at most reasonable prices. Particular attention is devoted to heavy framing for foundries, mills and shops of every description. We know whereof we speak in recommending them to the patronage of our readers as careful, capable, and fair dealing business gentlemen. See their card in another column.

Strawberry and Floral Festival.

The Strawberry and Floral Festival of the Grace Lutheran Church, Rev. Roth, pastor, commences this evening, in Birmingham, and will continue until Friday evening, thus affording our Birmingham friends a fine opportunity of patronizing a truly deserving enterprise, and at the same time furnishing them with a pleasant place of resort during the evenings of the present week. The affair is in excellent hands, and no doubt will be conducted in such a manner as to render satisfaction and enjoyment to all who patronize it. Base ball implements, set of dishes for the most popular physician's wife, Alderman's chair, and a minister's chair, will be voted for. The evenings will be enlivened with instrumental and vocal music, by Messrs. Jones, Hartzell, Price and others.

The Literary Society Entertainment.—The entertainment of the Hawthorn Literary Society of Allegheny, for the benefit of the Soldiers' Monument Fund, will be given at Lafayette Hall this evening. The members of the Society have spared no efforts to prepare themselves for the occasion, and those who attend may anticipate a delightfully pleasant entertainment. The entire proceeds will be appropriated to the Soldiers' Monument Fund, and this fact alone, to say nothing of the attractive programme which will be presented, should fill the house to overflowing.

Universalist Pic Nic.—The Sunday School attached to the Universalist Church will hold their annual re-union Pic Nic to-morrow, at McFarland's Grove. These occasions have, in the past, been exceedingly pleasant and enjoyable affairs, and arrangements have been made to make the Pic Nic to-morrow very agreeable to all who attend. Good music, broad platforms and select company may be anticipated.

Drowned While Bathing.

William Hantan, a wagon maker, who boarded at No. 264 Ohio street Allegheny city, was drowned in the Allegheny river, at Herr's Island, Sunday evening, between seven and eight o'clock. He had gone up to the Island in company with several others to bathe, and while swimming across the channel was observed to sink. Search was made for the body immediately, but without success, and yesterday morning the body was found a short distance from where he was last seen the evening previous. Coroner Clawson was notified, and proceeded to the place, summoned a jury and held an inquest. Verdict, accidental drowning.

We cannot refrain from noticing the niggardliness displayed by Hans Michel proprietor of the house at which Hantan boarded. He refused to telegraph to Hantan's brother at Chicago, on the account of the expense, and also refused to allow the body to be removed to his house, lest it might make some extra trouble.

Pan Handle Road Church Train.

On and after Sunday, 23d, a church train will be run on Sundays as follows: Leave McDonald's at 8:30 A. M., arrive at Noblestown, 8:40, Oakdale 8:43, Walker's Mill 8:55; Mansfield, 9:02; Brodhead, 9:13; Nimick, 9:20, Birmingham, 9:35, arriving at Pittsburgh at 9:45 A. M. Returning leave Pittsburgh at 12:45 P. M., arrive at Birmingham, 12:55; Nimick, 1:10; Brodhead, 1:17; Mansfield, 1:27, Walker's Mill, 1:35; Oakdale, 1:48, Noblestown, 1:50;—arriving at McDonald's at 2:00 P. M. This train will have the right of the road against delayed regular trains and construction trains.

We copy the foregoing from the time table of the Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cincinnati Railroad, just issued. We have no doubt it will be joyous news to many of the families along the road who have no place of worship nearer than Pittsburgh. By thus early supplying the wants of the church going community resident along the line of this railroad, Judge Jewett has given another evidence of his fitness for the responsible position he fills.

Fights Between Drunkards.

Between eleven and twelve o'clock on Saturday night, Herman and Dill, two night officers, heard a noise at the corner of Federal and Lacock streets, Allegheny. On repairing to the ground they found two men in a high state of intoxication lying on the ground and pelting each other. Being arrested, they gave their names as Thomas Hamil and James McNiel. On their way to the Mayor's office they resisted much, and showed themselves extremely indocile, one of them severely biting officer Dill in the left arm, while the other was pinching the ears of his companion officer. They spent the night in the lock-up, and as a reward for their mischief were, the next morning, fined—McNiel two dollars and Hamil four. A few weeks ago the same parties had been under arrest for a like offence.

Lost Her Father.

A young lady arrived in this city, from Portsmouth, Ohio, on Sunday, in search of her father Jesse Hinkley, whom she says came here about two weeks since. Hinkley is a book peddler, and formerly resided in Parkersburg, West Virginia, from whence he removed with his two daughters to Portsmouth, Ohio, and about two weeks since started with the younger daughter for Pittsburgh, since when the elder daughter has heard nothing of him. She describes her father as being lame and using one crutch and has sandy hair and whiskers. She has made her case known at the Mayor's office, and any information of the missing man left there will be thankfully received by the young lady.

False Pretense.

Owen Fitzsimons appeared before Alderman McMasters and charged David Crumie with false pretense. Crumie came to the prosecutor and represented to him that his uncle, who, he said, resided on the Greensburg pike, about twelve miles from town, was very sick, and after much persuasion procured a horse and buggy from him, promising to return it by nine or ten o'clock that night, which he failed to do, but on the other hand kept it about twenty-four hours over the time at which he promised to return it. A warrant was issued, the defendant arrested and held for a hearing.

The United Presbyterian is pleased to say: "Owing to the crowded state of our columns, we were unable to notice the enlargement of the GAZETTE, which took place some two or three weeks since. This is the second time it has been enlarged during the proprietorship of the present owners, who are acknowledged to be gentlemen of literary talent of the highest order, great business capacity and untiring energy. Knowing from personal acquaintance with them, their eminent qualifications for conducting a first class newspaper successfully, we predicted a brilliant career for Messrs. Penniman, Reed & Co., and we are glad to learn that our prediction has been fully verified. They have been necessitated to make this second enlargement of their excellent paper on account of the increased demand made upon their advertising columns. We wish them continued success."

An adjourned meeting of the Refiners' Association will be held this afternoon at three o'clock, at room No. 4 Dalzell Building, Duquesne Way. Every stockholder is directly interested in the subjects to be brought before the meeting and is particularly requested to be present.

Coming Up the Bay.—In making mention yesterday morning of the suicide of the old man Wooster, of Birmingham, last week, the Dispatch reporter regards it as singular that no notice was made of it previously. The only singularity about the matter, even if that be so considered, is that the Dispatch had no account of the suicide. Note was made of it in the GAZETTE, and in other city papers last week.

—There is one old man in the Kansas penitentiary, pious and conscientious, sentenced for thirty years. He is named Joseph Drummond. He was a soldier in the Union army of Tennessee. He came to Kansas after the war, having buried his wife, who died during the terrible scenes of strife in the Border States. He married again of late, and found to his misery that he had made a mistake. His wife was faithless, and her paramour threatened him, the husband, in his own house. An accidental discharge of a gun, for which the husband and the betrayer were contending, killed an innocent third party. For this, a Kansas court gave the old man thirty years. The villain who caused it all is living with the faithless wife. The Governor will pardon Joseph Drummond in a short time, and then the old man will walk away as calmly as he entered, innocent all the time, free and innocent hereafter. He is allowed the largest liberty, being frequently permitted to visit Leavenworth, guarded only by his suit of stripes and a pass.

—In Memphis, a large contract, covering several miles of Nicholson pavement, was awarded last April, and is now in course of construction. The pavement has met with so much favor that at a meeting of the City Council on the 1st of June, it was unanimously voted that bonds to the amount of $900,000, payable in five, ten and fifteen years, be issued to provide for the paving of all the principal streets with the same pavement. The papers of that city all congratulating themselves on the prospect of being the best paved city in the country.

—The papers say that the story about the new French gun which shoots people without powder or smoke, is true. The weapon is really a sling, improved up to the nineteenth century standard. Bullets are placed in a circular groove of a disc of steel, which, driven by a wheel of much greater diameter, revolves at a prodigious pace, and hurls out the bullets at the rate of about three hundred per minute. They strike as hard as rifle balls.

—Official returns show a terrible increase in pauperism in England and Wales. In the fourth week of February relief was given to 918,918 out-door poor, and to 146,485 in poor houses, etc. The gross number being 60,611 greater than in the corresponding week of 1866. The returns from Ireland for the month of January, gives 77,522 as the whole number of paupers in that island, 11,207 of these being able-bodied adults.

—A young man, whose name was published as one of the rebel soldiers killed on the sanguinary field of Stone River, and whose funeral sermon was preached about a year ago, suddenly appeared to his friends at the old homestead, near Nashville, Tennessee, a day or two since, just arriving in time to claim a share of the estate, which was to be divided to heirs in a few days. He had been in California.

—In writing treaties, says the National Intelligencer, the rule of the United States with the single exception of Russia, is for the treaty to be written in the language or languages of the nations treating. The Russian government has adopted, in making her treaties, the French language instead of the Russian, that being generally, in other respects, regarded as the diplomatic language of Europe.

—The Charleston (S. C.) Courier says that there now lives on the plantation of Hon. Charles Macbeth, in St. John's Berkley, a venerable man, a native of Africa, who was an adult and the joyous husband of three wives previous to his removal to this country. His recollections of his native land are very distinct, and among other things he describes the Gorilla very correctly, and in perfect accord with M. Chaillu's account.

—A gentleman who has just arrived in Leavenworth, Kansas, from a point about seventeen miles west of that place, reports the grasshoppers as being active and plenty. They have destroyed the late potatoes, but the early ones got the start of them. They threaten to do serious injury to the corn crop. The prospects for a fine fruit crop were never so good at this season of the year.

TUESDAY JUNE 18, 1867.

AN IMPOSING CEREMONIAL.

On the 29th day of the present month the Catholic Church will commemorate, at Rome, the eighteen hundredth anniversary of the martyrdom of Peter the Apostle. The expectation is that a larger number of the dignitaries of the Church will be present participating than on any occasion hitherto in modern times. From the United States at least one-half the prelates started some days ago, accompanied by an unusual number of priests and laymen of distinction. Every nation in Europe will be still more largely represented, the distances being shorter, and the means of transit easier and less expensive. From South America, Africa, Asia, and the islands of the oceans, delegations are now swarming towards the renowned centre of the Christian world. The Eastern Churches, in communion with Rome, will share in the splendors of the occasion. Sight-seers, of all kindreds, and tribes, and nations, and creeds, are flocking to see a pageant that in gorgeousness and sublimity will surpass any other that has been witnessed for hundreds of years.

That surpassing administrative ability which made Rome the mistress of the world, has come down through the ages the natural inheritance of the Catholic Church. In this consists her superiority and power. Among the Protestant bodies there is not one that approaches her in excellence of organization. The Methodists come nearest, but even they are a long way behind.

Protestant divines think the Catholic Church exhausted and effete; that it lacks adaptability to the distinctive forms of modern civilization; that, consequently, it is losing its power over the masses in many nations that have for centuries acknowledged its sway; and that it must soon, in the natural progress of events, cease to be formidable. Statesmen and secular journalists incline pretty unanimously to a different view of the situation. That Austria, following the example of France under LOUIS PHILLIPE, has a Protestant for Prime Minister, and that in the kingdom of Italy the dissemination of the Protestant version of the Scriptures and the celebration of public worship according to Protestant rites, shows that Catholic communities, though inherently conservative, do not find it practicable to get out of those resistless currents which sweep the whole human race forward, any more than they can escape that invisible but omnipotent power that moves the planets along their vast projectories.

VOLTAIRE, who was not only an epitome of all the learning of his age, but had a most versatile and all-comprehending genius, loosened the Catholic traditions in France so that the whole superstructure seemed at the point of disruption. From unquestioning credulity the pendulum swung to the extreme of all-questioning doubt. The transition was inevitable and healthful. Unbelief is the first step by which any mind escapes from the domain of error in the realm of truth. After the purifying storm had spent its force, Catholicity was the only existing form of religious faith, and the people went back to it. So, in Italy, in the pursuit of civil liberty, the Court and populace have broken, to a certain degree, with the traditions of the Church. Protestants tell us that unbelief is prevalent almost to universality, and on this they predicate hopes that the authority of the Pope will be utterly subverted. This intermediate condition of unbelief or infidelity, which Garibaldi boldly symbolizes, might lead to vast consequences if there was a foundation present for another belief to build on. In the absence thereof, when the Italians shall have obtained national unity and civil liberty, they will in all probability vibrate back to their hereditary faith, holding it unmixed in form but practically modifying it in conformity with the spirit of the passing age.

We do not accept as undoubted the chronicle that records the residence of Peter at Rome. But there is a grandeur in the traditions of the Romish Church, and a wonderful dexterity in the applications of them, a sensuousness in its worship, a flexibility in non-essentials, an adaptation to times and places, which stand unmatched among existing institutions.

ORIGIN OF CAST STEEL.

As the manufacture of cast steel has become one of the largest and most important of the industries of Pittsburgh, and as this is likely to be the Sheffield of this continent in this particular, a few observations upon the origin of making steel by the process of fusing and casting carbonized iron may not be uninteresting.

The art of converting iron into steel was known and practiced in the East centuries before it was introduced into Europe. That peculiar and perhaps unmatched variety of which the far-famed Damascus blades are fabricated is quite ancient. The extraordinary qualities of this steel, however, are attributable more to the quality of the iron of which it is made than to any superior art in its conversion into steel. In Asiatic countries, where iron was first made—probably before the deluge—the rude and primitive methods of extracting the metal from the ore are still practiced; and it is worthy of remark, that the ruder the method employed for the reduction of the ore the better the quality of the iron is likely to be. Hence it is a fact that better iron is made this day in both India and Africa, than is made in Europe or America. But an American manufacturer would hardly be content with drawing from his furnace at one time a little cake of about two pound weight, as is the case with one of the best varieties of India iron, and which is used for the manufacture of steel of a quality which can hardly be equaled in Europe or America.

But the manufacturer of cast steel is a comparatively modern invention, and is not practiced by the Orientals. The process was conceived and carried into successful practice by BENJAMIN HUNTSMAN, a member of the Society of Friends, at Sheffield, a little over a century ago. Mr. HUNTSMAN was a native of Lincolnshire, and was born in the year 1704. He was naturally a very ingenious man, and although skillful in many things, his chief occupation was the making and repairing of clocks. Finding a difficulty in obtaining steel of such quality as he needed in his operations, he turned his attentions to the making of a better article than was then to be found in the market. In order to be near a good supply of fuel he removed in 1740 from Doncaster to Sheffield, where he prosecuted his experiments, amid many difficulties and discouragements, for a number of years, and finally succeeded in making cast steel of a quality but little if any inferior to that made by the Sheffield manufacturers of the present day. He erected pretty extensive works, and before his death, which occurred in 1776, his steel was known throughout the commercial world; and it is probably owing to his success that Sheffield took and kept the lead in the manufacture of cast steel.

But it is a notable fact that at first the manufacturers of cutlery in Sheffield refused to work Mr. HUNTSMAN's steel, and that for several years he found his only market in France; but there he found ready sale for all he could make; and it was not until French cast steel cutlery threatened to drive the Sheffield manufacturers out of the market of the world that they were obliged to give in. Before they did so, however, they attempted to get an act of Parliament to prohibit the exportation of cast steel. This was of course refused, and then they went earnestly to work on the new kind of steel. The difficulty they made at first was that the steel was too hard—they could not work it.

Mr. HUNTSMAN never took out letters patent for his process, but kept it a secret as long as he could. Finally, an iron founder, named WALKER, one cold night in mid-winter, in the guise of a half-frozen vagrant, begged piteously to be allowed to come in and lie down somewhere near the furnaces, a request which the kind-hearted workmen granted. Feigning sleep, WALKER watched the entire process, and it was not long until another cast steel establishment was in operation.

There has been but little change in the process of making cast steel since then. HUNTSMAN used the closed crucibles or pots as do our present manufacturers, into which small pieces of broken steel were put, with whatever fluxes were needed. He put a little green glass in with the other ingredients, a practice which, we think, is discontinued.

ALLEGHENY COMMONS.

The authors of several communications censuring the authorities for licensing the exhibition of the circus on the Commons, will excuse us for not giving place to them in our much crowded columns. Let it suffice that many estimable citizens feel aggrieved by the proximity of such scenes and noises as always attend these exhibitions—and think it a gross perversion of the purposes to which the Commons have very lately been solemnly dedicated, both by the City Councils and the State Legislature. Expostulation with the Mayor has been in vain. The nuisance complained of will happily be but transient, and we doubt not the Mayor would have refused the license asked for had he been apprised beforehand of the offence given by it. When the remonstrances were made it was too late—the privilege having been granted in ignorance of any objection to be made and could not be recalled.

FARM, GARDEN AND ORCHARD.

Encourage the Boys.

A lad from Iowa writes, says the American Agriculturist, that he thinks farmers' sons ought to have a chance to earn something for themselves, to be allowed to make little ventures in stock-raising for pocket money, and to keep them contented at home. We think so too. We suppose a great many farmers do this, certainly the great majority of our readers do. But many work their boys with as little consideration as they work hired men. They take no pains to make farm life attractive, and the boys are off at the earliest opportunity. They have no joyous memories to bind them to the spot that ought to be the dearest on earth. To learn the worth of money they must have money as the result of their labors. To form habits of faithfulness, carefulness and economy, these and other virtues must be rewarded. They should have responsibilities put upon them while they are very young, and be encouraged to make money and to save it. Give them a hen, a goose, or turkey, a lamb, or pig, and let them have all they can make by good care and feeding. A boy of ten or twelve years of age, with a little instruction, can manage the poultry. Let him take it on shares and see what he can make out of it. Give him a patch for a garden, and, if near a market, let him sell what he can raise. Give him a half dozen apple trees or pear trees, teach him to graft them, if they need it, and let the fruit be his. Give the boys an interest in your business, and make them intelligent in it, and they will not be in haste to leave the homestead. Encourage them to read agricultural papers and books, and the appetite will grow by what it feeds upon. The farm will be the scene of cheerful, well rewarded labor, and will always be loved.

New Manner of Dissolving Bones for Farming Purposes.

We have received the following translation of an article by Prof. Ilienkoff, Moscow, Russia, from a friend in Washington. The process is not altogether new, but as the success of such operations depends often upon minute details, we are glad to publish it. Prof. I. says: "It was a matter of importance with me to discover a method by means of which every farmer might be enabled to prepare bones for his meadows and fields. As great masses of salts are accumulating in the ashes of every household, and most of them with those burning wood, I used alkalies in connection with unslaked lime, which soon dissolved the bones. To my friend and pupil, Mr. Alexander Engelhart, to whom I communicated my discovery, belongs the honor of having introduced a new and convenient process for gaining manure for agricultural use. I give it in an extract:

'Suppose you have 4,000 pounds of bones, you need 4,000 pounds of ashes, (averaging 10 per cent. of carbonate of potash) 600 pounds unslacked lime, and some 4,500 pounds (55 1-2 gallons) of water. Dig a hole some two feet deep, large enough to receive the bones and one-half their volume besides; parallel to this, you dig another one, 25 per cent. larger, both being filled with bones. First, slake the lime and mix with your ashes, covering 2,000 pounds of bones in the smaller one. Then it is filled with water and left. When it gets dry add, continually, water enough to keep it wet. When the bones crumble in your fingers, then take the whole mass out, and spread it over these bones in the second whole, leaving the decomposition to go on. When this is done let the mass dry; and to make it fit for use, add peat powder or mellow garden soil until it is well dried and powdery. Let it be shoveled over several times, and then apply to your fields.

'Thus you get a fertilizer averaging 12 per cent. of phosphate of lime; 2 per cent. of alkalies, and 6 per cent. of nitrogen.'"

The pits used in this process must of course be dug in soil, to a great degree impervious to water. Clayey soil will answer, if first sprinkled and then pounded, or clay may be "puddled" in a basin in any soil, and a water-tight pit be made. If the bones are tolerably fresh, there will be very little loss of ammonia. We have known the softening of the bones to be complete on a small scale.—New York Agriculturist.

Timely Hints for June.

GRAPES should have all superfluous shoots rubbed off. Do not let young vines overbear. One bunch to the shoot is enough for the first year. More failure of varieties is due to over fruiting, when the vine is young, than to any real fault of the variety. On old vines pinch off the fruiting shoot at three leaves beyond the last cluster. Never remove leaves to expose the fruit to the sun. The leaves do the work, and the berries develop best when shaded. Keep young vines to a single cane. Use sulphur freely on the first appearance of mildew. For the larger insect pests, such as beetles and caterpillars, hand picking is the only remedy.

ANIMALS of all kinds must have clean dry quarters, or in hot weather they will be exposed to lung diseases from exhalations of fermenting manure, etc. Use plaster freely in stables and fowl houses to arrest ammonia; dry soil is almost equally as good.

WHITE FIELD BEANS may be planted any time during the month. It is best to put them in drills. Blue-pod or White Marrowfat are good varieties, the latter much the largest, the former yielding the surest.

STRAWBERRIES must be mulched before the fruit gets large. Use straw, dry hay, corn stalks, or similar material. Saw dust is bad, as it soils the fruit almost as much as earth. In hill or row culture, keep the runners off and keep all plantations free of weeds.

PASTURES.—Look to the water supply in pastures. Nothing dries up the fountains of milk like a lack of water. See also that the grass is not fed off too close, for any rain may be the last for some weeks, and then permanent damage would be sustained by over-stocked land.

ROOT CROPS.—Carrots and parsnips, and beets, may be sowed as late as early in June with fair success. Rutabagas are preferably sown about the 20th, in good deep soil, well manured and dressed with bone dust or superphosphate of lime.

FOWLS, if confined, should have fresh water and fresh sods daily, and every few days their scratching ground should be forked up and freshened. Especially provide good dusting boxes, and fresh water.

PARSNIPS, carrots, beets, radishes, and all root crops should have water, and have the beds well filled with it, at most, five or six days after being sown. By watering them at this time, the ground is [illegible] and, besides giving the seed a [illegible] sity of watering the plants when just appearing, and when, very likely, there are frosty nights; and at such times very young plants are more or less injured, or at least put back.

EARLY PEAS should get watered often, and always be watered two or three days before picking for market, if you wish them to fill well.

TURNIPS will speak as plainly as any vegetable need, when they require water, and in dry climates do not leave them any longer without it, after the leaves begin to call for it, than you would your best cow; don't put it off for a day or two, or you may insure a crop of pithy, strong flavored roots, entirely unfit for the table.

TOMATOES need more care in the watering than any other vegetable; when the plants are first put out, they should be transplanted into wet beds, as for cabbage; then see that they are erect before irrigating, and let on the water slowly, taking care not to cover the crowns of the plants; and at no time let over two inches of water on your plants, or they will either wither or stop growing entirely; tomatoes need water often to get an early crop, but in very limited quantities.

CATTLE.—In providing for an increase of stock in the natural way, let no penny-wise policy interfere with the employment of the very best male animals. Use only well bred bulls of one of the approved breeds, Shorthorn, Devon, Ayrshire, Alderney, etc., if they can be found within a reasonable distance.

Picking Berries for Market.

The success of small fruit culture, says the American Agriculturist, depends upon several other things than the choice of suitable soil and productive varieties. There must be ready access to market, and abundant labor to gather the crops, just at the right time. So perishable are most of the small fruits, that a day's delay in either picking, or in transportion, may seriously reduce the returns. Both forethought and capital must have been employed in providing an abundant stock of baskets, crates and other packages—enough to allow the the grower to go on with gathering in spite of any delay in returning packages. As many hands are needed to gather the berries, the cultivation of small fruits must of necessity be carried on in thickly settled communities. In the great berry regions, picking time levels social distinctions, and the poor and well to do, young and old, black and white, find plenty of work, at paying prices. The season begins with strawberries, than come raspberries, which, followed by blackberries, prolong the season through several weeks.

Taking the Advantage of Time.

Much of a farmer's success depends upon taking advantage of the weather, and the right time to do certain kinds of work. We need not here allude to haying time, though even here men differ widely in their management. Some men will so contrive it as to have an abundance of hay out if there happens to be a rain storm, while others will seem to be prepared for such an emergency and escape. We saw a man the other day who had during the fall months, performed some serious dental operations on the pine stumps which had covered his fields. A flight of snow had fallen, and he took advantage of it and hauled them off for the purpose of making a fence. No doubt he did it with one-half the expense of leaving them till spring. When a man has large stone to haul at a distance, or his winter's supply of wood, he can, after taking advantage of the first snows, do it at a much cheaper rate than at any other time. We never think much of a man who goes to work banking up his house during the first snow storm. It is this vigilant foresight which some men have by which they succeed so much the more easily in accomplishing their purposes, that renders them superior to others.—Maine Farmer.

Orchards and Soil.

An exchange says. "A neighbor of ours set one hundred and fifty trees eighteen years ago, on good sandy loam land, and has tended them well. They are thrifty handsome trees, but he has not obtained fruit enough from them to supply a family of ten persons. We set as many trees at the same time, on a granite soil, have tended them well, and cropped the land heavily every year, and have gathered two hundred barrels in a season. Why the difference? Who can tell? One is a granite soil the other a rich, sandy loam. Ours is on high land, the neighbor's is on a level between hills and low lands."

AN OLD FRIEND.

For many years the Press of the country has chronicled the beneficial effects of HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS. Editors, authors, physicians, merchants, officers of the army and navy, chemists counselors, ministers of the gospel; in short, a great cloud of witnesses of every profession, trade and calling, have testified to its efficacy as a tonic and regulating medicine. The names and statements of these witnesses have been published in the public prints. Many of them are well known to the whole public. Their testimony has never been challenged or impugned. This has been tried and pronounced, on the authority of those whose lives and health it has preserved, a pure, harmless and eminently salutary preparation. Attempts have been made to rival it. They have failed. There is nothing equal to the enjoyment experienced by the afflicted when using this valuable specific. Its mild tone, its sure and vigorous action upon a disordered stomach, and the cleansing of the entire human body, recommend it to the whole community as a RELIABLE FRIEND.

PINUS CANADENSIS.

A tree which is abundant in Canada, Nova Scotia, and the more northern parts of the New England States, and is also found in the elevated and mountainous regions of the Middle States, and abounds in medicinal virtues. Dr. Swett, of Boston, has prepared a medicine from the sweet inside bark of the pine tree, called POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND, which is one of rare value in all debilitated states of the kidneys. It acts like a charm in all diseases of mucous membranes, enabling them to regain their lost tone and energy. It will be found well adapted to all those diseases, where Buchu has been tried and failed. It is likewise well suited to chronic coughs, and an infallible specific for old and debilitated cases of asthma. Many persons who at first only took a bottle of this medicine, to try, afterwards came back and got a dozen, or half dozen, which effected radical cures of diseases of the bladder and kidney of years standing.

Diabetes, a disease that has been looked upon as among the incurables, is immediately relieved by it. Notice the certificate of Asa Goodnue, published some time ago.

The United States Dispensatory, speaking of the pine, says: "It is prescribed in leucorrhoea, gleet, and other diseases of the urinary passages; in piles and chronic inflammation or ulceration of the bowels, in chronic catarrhal affections, and in various forms of rheumatism." It is exceedingly valuable in all gravelly affections, bloody urine, and where there is red and white sediment. It can be taken without interruption to one's usual avocations; and instead of sickening, produces a bracing, healthy power of endurance and vigor. Price, $1 per bottle; six for $5. Ask for POLAND'S WHITE PINE COMPOUND. For sale by the gross, dozen or single bottle, at DR. KEYSER'S Great Medicine Store, 140 Wood street.

The Pittsburgh Gazette

THE COURTS.

Court of Quarter Sessions.

This Court met Monday at ten o'clock, Hon. Thomas Mellon on the bench, Col. L. B. Duff, District Attorney. A new jury panel was in attendance. A number of jurors were excused, several for the reason that they did not sufficiently understand the English language.

A FEROCIOUS DOG CASE.

A. F. Chatoney, of No. 63 First street, indicted for keeping a ferocious dog, on complaint of Thomas Jackson, put in the plea of nolle contendere, and was sentenced to pay a fine of ten dollars and the costs. Defendant said he had arranged to put the dog out of the way.

CONVICTED OF ANOTHER CHARGE.

F. J. Guth (tried last week for the Lawrenceville burglary) was put on trial on a charge of stealing a saddle, James Blackstone, Jr., of Lawrenceville, prosecutor. It was in evidence that two horses, saddles and bridles, were taken from the stable of the prosecutor on the 19th of April last. One of the horses belonged to Mr. Blackstone, and the other to Mr. George Verner, of the Allegheny Valley road. They were recovered shortly after, the one belonging to prosecutor being found at the horse market, on Irwin street. One of the saddles taken (of the army pattern) was produced and identified, and proven to have been found in the house of defendant on the 3d of May. The house was searched three times for stolen goods, the saddle being recovered on the third occasion. At the second search, when the saddle was noticed, defendant said it belonged to him. The defense was good character, several witnesses testifying that defendant's reputation for honesty was considered good. One witness, his mother-in-law, testified that the defendant, whilst in the army, sent home a saddle of the description of the one in question.

Wm. Haines, Esq., for the defense, said this was the most strangely tried case he had ever observed in all his experience as a lawyer. Two horses, two bridles and two saddles were stolen, charged to have been taken at the same time. The horses, at least that one belonging to the prosecutor, were recovered, traced to the possession of a man. Yet nothing is said or offered concerning that man. It was not the defendant, and there was nothing to indicate that the man who had the horse might not as readily be suspected as the defendant on trial of taking the saddle. The horses and saddles were stolen on the 20th of April, and on the 3d of May following one of the saddles was found in the house of defendant, a lapse of thirteen days days having occurred since the larceny.

Col. Duff said there was a larceny committed, and one of the articles stolen was found in the possession of the accused, without any reasonable explanation having been offered, unless the jury thought that presented in the circumstances was a reasonable account of the possession. If the jury so considered, their verdict would be not guilty. As to the case being strangely tried, and that the Commonwealth had arbitrarily used its power under the rule of law as to the possession of stolen property, Col. D. thought the counsel for the defense had drawn largely on his imagination.

The jury found a verdict of guilty, and the prisoner was remanded for sentence.

WHISKY CASES.

Mary Leddy, of West Pittsburgh, was placed on trial for selling liquor without license. Hannah O'Connor, the prosecutrix, testified that during the last twelvemonth she had been frequently deprived of her night's rest by the goings on of drunken persons at the house of defendant. It appeared that the drinking place is in a neighborhood of railroad shanties known as "Limerick." The defendant withdrew her plea of not guilty, and made a statement. Her husband was killed seven years ago, leaving her six children, the eldest being nine years of age, which she maintained subsequently by selling liquor. She married again, but her second husband, after the number of her children had been increased to eight, refused to provide for them and left her, thus compelling her to again resort to whisky selling to maintain herself and little ones. What further she stated did not indicate a high state of morality in the locality in West Pittsburgh, called "Limerick." The Court sentenced defendant to pay a fine of fifty dollars and costs.

Patrick Gallagher, of Versailles township, indicted for selling liquor without license, put in a plea of guilty. He had kept a public house at Port Perry, but his license having expired, sold liquor during the pendency of his application for a new license. He was sentenced to pay a fine of fifty dollars and costs.

Nancy Critley, of Harrison township, in addition to keeping a boarding house, was in the habit of selling cider of the hardest kind, which caused disturbance in the neighborhood, and consequently her indictment for selling liquor without license. On the strength of her promise to quit, the Court sentenced her to pay a fine of ten dollars and the costs.

SARBER-MICKEY EXTORTION CASE.

John B. Sarber, constable, (at present in waiting on the Grand Jury,) was indicted for extortion, John W. Mickey, prosecutor. R. S. Morrison, Esq., of counsel for the prosecution, said this offense of extortion had become quite as common as larceny. The defendant, who is constable of the Fourth Ward, had in his custody the prosecutor, for the purpose of taking him to Uniontown, Fayette county, and while so having him in custody obtained from him fifty dollars, on the representation that he (Sarber) would be his (the prisoner's) friend.

It was first proven that defendant was a deputized constable, his bond as such having been approved by the Court.

T. A. Haideman, Justice of the Peace in Uniontown, testified he took an information against John R. and John W. Mickey, for obtaining money under false pretences; issued a warrant, and sent it to the city, in order that the accused might be arrested. J. W. Mickey was brought to Uniontown, by officer Sarber, and gave bail.

The prosecutor testified that he was arrested at Thayer and Noyes' Circus, on an evening in April, by officer Smith, remained in the tombs all night, and on the afternoon of next day was conducted to jail by officer Sarber. The next day he was taken out of jail by Sarber; had some conversation with Sarber; prosecutor said he did not want to go to jail when taken to Uniontown, would give one hundred dollars rather than be locked up. Sarber said he would be his friend for fifty dollars, and see that he was not put in jail. He gave Sarber fifty dollars, and took breakfast before going to the railroad depot to proceed to Uniontown; at the railroad depot prosecutor was asked by Sarber to pay the fare, which he did. [Evidence was offered, but ruled out as irrelevant, that after getting upon the cars, Sarber handcuffed the prosecutor, and kept him thus secured until they arrived at Uniontown.]

John R. Mickey, the father of the prosecutor, testified to conversations he had with the defendant Sarber, after he had been arrested on the charge of extortion. Sarber offered to pay back the fifty dollars and costs; said he got the fifty dollars to take the witness' son to Uniontown, when, if he could not get bail, he was to take him to the State of Ohio, where the witness was supposed to be. Witness went with Sarber to a hotel to settle the matter, but having advised with counsel, refused Sarber's proposition.

The Commonwealth closed with the proof that Sarber had the prosecutor in custody as an officer, and received the fee or reward under the circumstances stated.

F. H. Collier, Esq., for the defense, submitted the proof did not show that defendant received the money under color of his office. It seemed to be a voluntary matter, defendant agreeing to act as the prosecutor's friend for fifty dollars.

A. G. Cochran, Esq., replied that the penal code made it a misdemeanor for any officer to receive or take any fee or reward, under color of his office, not allowed by law. The proof was that defendant received fifty dollars to act as a friend to his prisoner. No construction could be placed on the section in the Penal Code to relieve the defendant of the charge.

The defense offered no testimony, and W. McMoffitt, Esq., briefly addressed the jury on behalf of the defense. He was followed by Mr. Cochran for the prosecution.

Judge Mellon charged the jury that officers cannot receive any other fees for the discharge of any duties pertaining to their office than are allowed by some act of Assembly, and any officer receiving such fees as are not allowed would be guilty of extortion under the code. There were exceptions, such as where rewards are offered, where officers discharge duties outside of their legitimate line of business, or when persons choose to make presents to officers for services performed. In this case it was for the jury to say whether the officer received or demanded a fee or reward not allowed by law, and to decide whether or not the amount testified to have been given was a voluntary offering or not, or received by the constable under color of his office. The jury found a verdict of guilty, and recommended defendant to the mercy of the Court.

LARCENY BY BAILEE.

Frank Bulger, of Lawrenceville, was indicted for this offense, on oath of William O'Neill, also a resident of Lawrenceville. The facts are about these: In May, 1866, the prosecutor took to the saddlery establishment of defendant, on Liberty street, a double set of harness, for repair and alteration. The defendant was unable to do the work at once, and, the prosecutor having been called on business to New York, some three months elapsed before he came for his harness, when he ascertained that defendant had sold out his establishment, and could learn nothing of him or the harness. Finally, in March last, he found Bulger employed at the Allegheny Arsenal. After considerable parleying about the matter, without any definite or satisfactory arrangement being made, O'Neill finally prosecuted. It did not appear clearly that the defendant had an intention to defraud, the loss of the harness having occurred through neglect of the prosecutor and the circumstance of the defendant selling out his establishment. The proper remedy in the case would have been a civil suit for the value of the harness. The jury found a verdict of not guilty.

SENTENCED.

Henry Stinkle, of Allegheny, who pleaded guilty to selling liquor to minors, and to selling on Sunday, was sentenced to pay fines of twenty and twenty-five dollars, and to undergo an imprisonment in the county jail for twenty days.

LARCENY OF MEAT.

Jacob Eyer, butcher, of Birmingham, was indicted for the larceny of eighteen pounds of beef, a "standing rib roast," from the stall (in the Birmingham Market House,) of Frederick Toyful. The prosecutor testified that he placed the meat in his stall on the night of the 15th of March, and on the next day discovered defendant in the act of cutting it up at his stall. Prosecutor was positive the meat was his, could tell it by the cutting, and was as certain about it as any man could be of his own handwriting. The man who killed the beef, and sold it to prosecutor, also identified it. On trial at adjournment.

House of Refuge vs. The County.

A "case stated" was decided in the District Court yesterday, in a matter of dispute between the House of Refuge and the county authorities. It had been customary for the Managers of the House of Refuge, in making out the accounts for the respective counties, to apportion the expense of boarding the officers and instructors of the institution among the counties, in proportion to the number of children from each county, and to charge each county with its own proportion of the expense of boarding the officers and instructors. The officers and instructors receive their boarding as a portion of their salaries—the cash or money portion thereof being thus far paid out of the annual appropriations voted for the House of Refuge by the Legislature.

The House of Refuge, in accordance with this custom, presented the quarterly bill against Allegheny county, composed in part of the pro rata expense of boarding the officers and instructors. The county authorities were willing to pay so much of the account as consisted of the personal expense of the children charged on account of the county, but refused to pay that portion of the account based on the expense of boarding the officers and instructors, claiming that the provisions of the ninth section of the act of 1829 regulates the payment of the salaries of those officers and instructors. After argument, the Court decided the law was with the Managers of the House of Refuge, and entered judgment against the county for five hundred dollars.

Assault and Battery With Intent to Kill.—Margaret Henry appeared before Alderman Lynch and made oath against Mary Book, charging her with assault and battery with intent to kill. This is more of the Poplar alley difficulty to which we referred a few days since. The deponent alleges that the defendant threw a stone at her son which struck him on the arm, bruising it severely. She was arrested and after a hearing committed for Court.

MONDAY, June 17, 1867.

The New York stock quotations to-day, as received by Mr. P. R. Mertz, were as follows: 7-30, 137¾; Eighty-one bonds, 111; Five Twenties, 1862, 110½; Five Twenties, 1864, 106¾; Five Twenties, 1865, 107¼; 1865 Coupons, [illegible]; Seven Thirties, 106¼@106; Ten Forties, 100¾; Michigan Southern Railroad, 68⅞; Cleveland & Pittsburgh, 76½; Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago, 98¾; Erie 60¾; Chicago and Northwestern, 35¾; Chicago and Northwestern preferred 59⅝; New York Central, 102¾; Reading 107½; Gregory, 5,85; Corydon, ,30; Quartz Hill, 1,50; Smith & Parmelee, 4,50.

Government securities are steady with light demand. Since the recent advance large amounts have come on the market by parties wishing to invest in mortgages or other enterprises yielding a larger interest. The stock market is dull, though prices are a little higher than on Saturday; there is evidently no desire at present to speculate for higher prices. Mining shares are dull. Local stocks are offered freely at slight concessions, and shrewd parties dispose of their stocks privately if possible, rather than trust to the auction, where the feeling is very bearish.

—The position of Mr. McCulloch is thus stated by The Bank Note Reporter: The Treasury now holds over $100,000,000 of gold, and about $80,000,000 of currency. This is strong financiering; and the money market is not tight. So completely is the Secretary master of the situation that he can do just what he pleases. He can contract the currency or he can put down gold or not; he can pay off his debts as they mature, or he can fund them into long bonds. This financial power is in the hands of a Secretary who has repeatedly said that a resumption should be brought about at the earliest possible date, is astonishing. Sell off; pay up; get out of debt.

—The flow of currency from the interior continues in favor of the east, but in the absence of any positive assurance as to the policy of the Treasury in disbursing, there is much of uncertainty whether the heavy June receipts on account of taxes will not cause stringency, or at least check the development of permanent ease to the market before July. The anticipation that preparations for the next quarterly bank statement may induce the banks to contract their loans has also something to do with the production of the quarterly dressing.

—The Chicago Tribune, of Saturday, says: Our local money market presents no material change since our last report. There is a fair amount of good paper offering for discount, but the unsettled condition of the produce markets compels bank managers to closely scrutinize all offerings of this class, and none find any favor unless bearing first-class signatures, and backed by undoubted security, with wide margins. The demand on mercantile account is moderate, and for small amounts, mostly for temporary uses. In some quarters currency is working closer, and as quarterly day is steadily approaching, there is less inclination to extend discount lines. In the open market money commands 1@2 per cent. per month.

—There are reports from New Orleans of the failure of the house of Edmund Dupassier & Co., of that city and Havre, France. They were extensive commission and shipping merchants.

—Within two months the United States Treasurer will be called upon to pay over forty millions of his promises to pay. This maturing paper is classified as follows: June 15, seven-thirty coupons, eight millions; July 15, seven-thirty coupons, seven millions; June 10 and July 15, compound interest notes, twenty-six millions.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, June 17, 1867.

CRUDE—The market continues dull and weak, and prices have still further declined, as will be seen by the following sales: 1000 bbls for June, at 6c; 1000 for July, at 6; and 1000 for same month, at 6¼; 1500 to be delivered within the next twenty days, seller's option, at 6¼; and 1500 for same delivery at 6¼. These sales show a decline of fully one cent per gallon within the last few days, and the tendency is still downward. It was rumored to-day that oil has declined to $1 00 per barrel at Oil City, but for the correctness of this report we cannot vouch, being unable to trace it to any reliable source.

REFINED—There is no improvement to note in the market for bonded oil, either as regards prices or demand, and it would seem that the bottom has not yet been touched. We can report a sale of 2000 barrels standard white, 500 each for September, October, November and December, at 26c, and 2000 barrels standard white, 500 each for October, November and December, at 26½c. Notwithstanding the above sales were nearly for the same deliveries, it will be seen that there is a difference of one and a half cent per gallon, the one being 26c, and the other 26½c; we cannot explain the why or wherefore, but merely give the transactions as we got them.

ARRIVALS—There were but two arrivals reported to-day 21 bbls for W. A. Sneathen, and 33 for Fisher Bro.

PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE,
MONDAY, June 17, 1867.

The general markets present no new characteristics worthy of special notice. There is no improvement to note in the demand for any of the leading articles of trade, and as there is little or no speculative inquiry, and as both dealers and consumers are restricting their purchases as much as possible, the volume of business is very light in the aggregate, and there are no indications apparent at present of any immediate improvement.

GRAIN—There is nothing doing in Wheat. Oats dull and unchanged; we continue to quote at 65@66c, on wharf and track, and 70c, in store. Sale of 1 car prime Spring Barley at 1,10, and 1 car prime Shelled Corn at 90c. Rye is dull and unchanged—may be fairly quoted at $1 25.

FLOUR—There is no improvement to note in the demand and the market continues dull, with a drooping tendency. We now quote good to choice Spring Wheat at $11,75@12,50 and $13@13,50 for Winter Wheat. Fancy brands are selling in a retail way at $17@17,50. Rye Flour is still quoted at $9.

PROVISIONS—There is a continued fair demand for Bacon at 9½ cents for Shoulders; 11½c for Ribbed, and 12½c for Clear Sides, and 15½c@16c for Canvassed Sugar Cured Hams. Lard is quoted at 13c; Dried Beef at 23c@24c, for plain and canvassed, and Mess Pork at $22,50@23.

POTATOES—The demand continues limited and the market is dull with a drooping tendency. Small sales of Peach Blows in store at $1,75 per bushel.

EGGS—Fresh packed still command 23c, notwithstanding the arrivals have been larger during the past two or three days.

BUTTER—Strictly prime fresh Roll is in rather better demand, and the receipts are falling off. We continue to quote at 12@14c for fresh packed, and 15@18c for fresh Roll.

SALT—Is dull and nominally unchanged—$2,30 on track, and $2,40 delivered. The demand has been very light for some time past.

CHEESE—Is dull and unchanged—14c for Western Reserve, and 15@16c for Hamburg and Factory.

DRIED FRUIT—Dull and unchanged; small sales in store at 6@7c for Apples, and 10@15c for Peaches.

HAY—Is dull and unchanged. We continue to quote good to strictly prime baled at $20 to $24 per ton.

RIVER NEWS.

The river at Glass House rose about three inches during Sunday night and yesterday forenoon, under the influence, we presume, of the recent heavy showers, but yesterday afternoon it was reported at a stand, with scant three feet in the channel. The weather continues unsettled and hot, with occasional showers of rain.

The Leclaire, from Cincinnati, arrived during Sunday night, and would have left for Parkersburg yesterday in place of the Bayard, had it not been for some repairs which it was found necessary to make on her boilers. The Bayard got as far as Glass House but was unable to get any further. She is now laid up in that neighborhood—her freight was towed up in barges by the towboat Wild Boy.

The New State arrived from Wheeling with Mike Lipman's Circus Company, on Sunday evening, and returned again the same night. This boat, we believe, is now plying in the packet trade between Wheeling and Parkersburg.

The Glendale got up to Glass House on Sunday night, and in consequence of a heavy fog, lay by until morning. After the fog cleared away she made an attempt to get over, but finding it impossible, sent for lighters, and we have no doubt she got in last evening. This boat has made five round trips to St. Louis, and this, we understand, was the first time she had occasion to set a spar.

Capt. Drennan, of the Grey Eagle has chartered the Delaware to take the place of the first named boat in the Pittsburgh and Parkersburg trade. She will leave on Wednesday, and the Leclaire will leave on Thursday in place of the Bayard. These are both good low water boats.

The Argosy is due here from Cincinnati to-day, and will return as usual on Wednesday at noon. Lew Vandergriff still commands, and Mr. W. H. Scott retains charge of the office.

The Lorena, from St. Louis, is among the first boats due. We understand that the towboat Little Jim went down to meet her with lighters, so that she will probably be enabled to get up with but little difficulty.

The Importer arrived at St. Louis on Friday last. The steamers Only Chance, Waverly and Deer Lodge, of the mountain fleet, are on their way back from Fort Benton.

The Louisville Journal insinuates that the reason why the Great Republic laid over at St. Louis last week, was a dread of having to come up with the "low-pressure" Richmond. Captain Donaldson's reasons for laying by a few days were very good. In the first place New Orleans freights were scarce, and in the next place, it was found necessary to make some repairs. If we mistake not, the Richmond has not yet come up to the time of the Republic on her last up trip between New Orleans and Cairo.

The Paragon, bound for Fort Union, passed Yancton, one thousand one hundred and eighty-one miles above St. Louis, on the 2d of June, fifteen days out from port.

The Minnie has withdrawn from the Ohio river, and will replace the lost Sharkey in the Arkansas trade.

The St. Marys arrived at Wheeling on Friday last, and is now undergoing repairs, preparatory to entering into the Wheeling and Cincinnati Packet trade. This is the boat that exploded her nigger boiler at New Orleans some few weeks since. The Ingomar, it is rumored, will go into the Wheeling and Marietta trade.

The St. Louis Democrat, of Saturday, says: The St. Croix has been bought by Dave Campbell for $4,500, and will be torn to pieces. The St. Croix was built in 1844, by Captain James Ward, for Capt. Hiram Leslie, and has consequently made a career of twenty-three years. The hull is in a fair state of preservation. Among her first crew was James Ward, now Captain of the Dubuque, as carpenter. Geo. C. Woh, now of the firm of Jones & Co., was a cabin boy on the St. Croix during the first year of her existence.

The Cincinnati Commercial, of Saturday, says: The Argosy, Captain Lew Vandergriff, being unavoidably detained, did not arrive from Pittsburgh until a late hour last night. She lays over until 12 o'clock to-day, when she will return to Pittsburgh. The Glasgow departed for Pittsburgh last night with a fine trip of freight. The Glasgow was only eleven days out from this port to St. Louis and back.

A St. Louis telegram to the Cincinnati Commercial gives the following additional particulars in regard to the Sharkey disaster:

An investigation will be made as to the cause of the sinking of the steamer Governor Sharkey, there being great difference of opinion as to whether it was from bad management in loading or from a panic among the passengers. The probabilities are that the insurance will not be paid. It is only known that the first clerk, Mr. Eugene Furlong, the Chief Engineer, Cornelius, and the cabin boy named George are lost. The government men are supposed to have been all saved. The Contractor under whose charge they were, made several attempts to call the roll, but was unable to get the men together. The last seen of the first clerk was when he was attempting to secure the books and money in the office, and it is presumed in the rush to get ashore, he was pushed overboard. The chief engineer was last seen by his assistant at his post in the engine room.

The cabin boy was evidently asleep at the time, as his body was taken out of a stateroom.

Sunday's Cincinnati Commercial says: The Spray arrived from Nashville yesterday. The Westmoreland, Capt. E. Evans, leaves this morning for New Orleans. Among her other items of freight is a loaded barge containing 3000 sacks corn. The General Lytle, from Louisville, brought up 171 hhds tobacco. Capt. S. Rees arrived from Pittsburgh yesterday, and left for Evansville together with Capt. T. H. Williams, on the Emma Floyd. Captain Wm. Miner, pilot yesterday, sold one-third of the Sherman to Captain Geo. F. Davidson. Terms private.

The St. Louis Democrat, of Saturday, says: St. Louis can boast of having some fine and fast boats in the New Orleans trade. Of the Atlantic line there were three lying together yesterday, whose standard time from New Orleans to this port is five days or barely over, including all business stoppages. The Lady Gay's time last trip was five days two and a half hours, Mississippi's was five days four hours. She made fifty-two landings and left New Orleans drawing 6 feet 3 inches, and put out on the way over 300 tons freight. The Mississippi can go from New Orleans to Cairo in three days six hours, doing the usual amount of way business. The Richmond and some other boasted fast ones can never do anything to compare with that.

MEDICAL.

CONSUMPTION!

It would take a man a lifetime to read the treatises that have been written upon this important subject, and if a sick man were to attempt it he would make himself worse by the reading, and die before he got half through. The symptoms of the disease are, hacking cough, expectoration of matter or pus, pain in one or both lungs, chilliness, burning in the palms of the hands and soles of the feet, exhausting day or night sweats, hectic fever, wasting of flesh or marasmus, sometimes expectoration of blood. These are the usual outward symptoms, apparent not only to the observing physician, but to the patient's friends. There are, however, more important symptoms than these, which are only made manifest by auscultation and percussion, terms which mean, in a medical sense, thumping and listening, and they are employed outwardly in order to ascertain what is going on inside of the cavity of the chest. The signs of symptoms elicited in this way are almost surely demonstrate the true and exact condition of the respiratory organs. A perfect auscultator can not fail in ascertaining whether the Lungs are acting naturally or not. Hence it is the best method of examining the lungs. Their actual condition once discovered, the appropriate treatment is more rapidly arrived at, and every diseased part more completely under the influence of appropriate remedies. We have long been of the opinion that consumption or decay, or wasting of the bodily strength, was dependent on a depraved state of the blood, which carries, in its course, tuberculous matter, and deposits it in the lungs, or elsewhere in the body, just as calculi or stone is deposited in the bladder, a small particle of which attracts other particles, until it becomes of such offense to the natural functions as to bring on inflammatory action, which action, if it could, would carry it out of the system, and which could have been easily done in the beginning of such disease. Dr. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP is a complete and perfect cure in the forming stage of lung disease. It acts on the very principle we have stated above, by enabling the securing or carrying off organs to do a double share of work. Waste and repair are easily comprehended, and if the worn out material be carried off, and the renewing material of a proper character, there must be health and ease, the contrary of sickness and dis-ease. In many cases of consumption which have become settled, Dr. Keyser's Pectoral Syrup fails to cure, although it will do good in nearly all. He prepares a medicine called LUNG CURE or PULMONARY RESTORATIVE, which is a great tonic, and strengthens and restores the parts to be renewed, while it dissolves and carries out from the body those particles of worn out or extraneous matter, which only tend to clog or destroy it, by hindering the renewing material being deposited in proper place.

PULMONARY CONSUMPTION, RESULTING FROM PLEURISY, CURED.

I took a violent attack of pleurisy, in May, 1866, which left me with a cough lasting all summer, wearing away my strength and gradually undermining my health. During this attack of pleurisy I had several physicians of the highest reputation in the city. After I had partially recovered from the pleurisy, I was advised to go into the country, which I did, and when there a called in a doctor, who told me my left lung was affected, and that if something were not done soon I would die of CONSUMPTION. I lingered on from this time until about the middle of June, my cough and lung disease gradually growing worse, and I weaker every day, and almost despairing of ever getting well. In this state of despondency, and knowing the general belief of the incurability of Consumption, and having heard of cures made by DR. KEYSER, and seeing his advertisement in the newspapers, I was induced in October last to call on the Doctor at his office, 120 Penn street, and had him examine my lungs with his "LUNG SOUND." He told me the upper lobe of my left lung was very much diseased, but he thought with great care and the perseverance in the use of his medicine, I would get well. At the time I called on Dr. Keyser my pulse was over one hundred and thirty beats in a minute, and I was generally prostrated, and had to cough night and day. I commenced the Doctor's treatment in October, with a feeble, broken constitution, and continued it faithfully until the present time. The Doctor's medicines helped me from the very start, and I could gradually feel myself getting stronger, and my cough and expectoration lessening. I have gained greatly in flesh, and consider myself well; all the rattling of my lung has ceased, and my general health is in every way good. All my relatives and friends know of the advanced stage of my disease and my extraordinary recovery. One of the medicines given me by Dr. Keyser was a medicine called LUNG CURE, which I took in connection with the other treatment.

GEORGE FORD.

PITTSBURGH, March 30, 1867.

ANOTHER CURE OF CONSUMPTION.

STATEMENT OF JOHN G. WIGHAM, OF TURTLE CREEK, ALLEGHENY COUNTY.

I was discharged from the United States army January, 1866, on account of a wound in the end, from a shell, and a disease which the army physicians pronounced CONSUMPTION. I had a terrible cough and fell away in strength and flesh and was unable to do anything. Shortly after my return from the army, I made application to a physician of my neighborhood, and afterwards, to another in Pittsburgh of high reputation, whose remedies I used faithfully for five months, without any benefit whatever, but rather grew worse, and wasted in flesh and strength every day. In August, 1866, my mother took me to DOCTOR KEYSER, of 120 Penn street, whose skill in such cases like mine had been highly spoken of and put myself under his treatment. The Doctor examined my lungs very carefully with his LUNG SOUND, and told me that my left lung was badly diseased at the upper part, but if I was careful he thought he could cure me by following his directions closely, which I did from that day to this. I gradually improved under Dr. Keyser's medicine from the first week I commenced to take them, and my general health has improved, and my chest, where it was sunk in away, and where it pained me, has become full and strong and free from pain. I can now do a full day's work, and take great pleasure in giving my testimony in favor of Dr. Keyser's treatment and medicines.

JOHN G. WIGHAM,
Turtle Creek.

PITTSBURGH, April 11th, 1867.

A case of five years' standing cured by DR. KEYSER'S PECTORAL SYRUP:

DR. KEYSER:—My wife has been afflicted with a cough and difficulty of breathing for five or six years, which, for several years back, had gradually increased in violence. The complaint has been hereditary, and she had been treated by several physicians without any relief. In this state of her case I procured some of your PECTORAL COUGH SYRUP. I bought the first time a fifty cent bottle, which relieved her very much; I then called and got a dollar bottle, which cured her entirely, and she has now no trace of the former disease, except weakness. I would also state that I used the medicine myself for a cold and cough. The medicine cured me by taking one dose. I express my entire satisfaction with the medicine, and you are at liberty to publish this if you desire to do so.

WM. WILSON,
Alderman, Fifth Ward.

Our son, JAMES PAINTER, some three years of age was afflicted with consumption of the lungs, for which he was discharged from the army. He was examined by four army physicians, who all agreed that he must die with the disease. We brought him to Dr. KEYSER, 140 Wood street, (now 120 Penn street,) who, after sounding his lungs, commenced to treat him, and cured him sound and well. He is now well and has been so for the past three years. Others afflicted in like manner can likewise be cured.
